

Client 4 is a single female born on May 22, 2000, with German nationality, who has been living in Switzerland for six years and holds a C Permit. She is a single parent with full responsibility for her two-year-old daughter and has no other dependent family members. The Client completed the obligatory nine years of school education in Switzerland but did not pursue further education or obtain a high school diploma. She is fluent in both formal German and Swiss German at the C2 level and has intermediate proficiency in English (B1). Her work experience in Switzerland consists of five years as a fast food employee, primarily handling customer orders and takeaways, with some employment gaps. Her soft skills include being highly communicative, well-organized, and able to manage stress and multitask effectively, while her hard skills cover basic IT competencies. The client faces slight depression and has started monthly psychotherapy sessions as of February 2025. She has no cultural restrictions and must earn at least CHF 4,200 per month to meet her personal and family expenses. Her housing options are limited to within 30 minutes of her place of residence by public transport. Previously, she began coaching with Förderverein Cocomo but had to discontinue due to her challenging co-parenting schedule. Her total recorded integration costs, specifically for assessment and coaching, amount to CHF 5,600.