

Client 3 is a single female born on September 3, 2003, from Ukraine, holding Permit S as a refugee in Switzerland, where she has lived for two and a half years. She does not have any dependent family members and has completed high school in Ukraine but has not pursued college education. Her language skills include B1 proficiency in formal German, native-level proficiency in both Ukrainian (C2) and Russian (C2), but she does not speak Swiss German. The client has no documented work experience in Switzerland, but she has previously worked abroad as a shop worker, where she was responsible for selling basic home goods, preparing goods for shipping, and handling basic logistical duties. Her soft skills are characterized by empathy, artistic talent, and creativity, while her hard skills include drawing, sketching, and basic IT abilities. She faces significant health challenges, including extreme introversion, heavy mood swings, depression with a history of suicidality, and ongoing weekly psychotherapy; further diagnoses of ADHD and autism are being considered. There are no noted cultural restrictions. Financially, she must earn at least CHF 2,100 per month to cover her expenses and can commute up to one hour from Regensdorf main station by public transport. The client has participated in multiple German language courses and is currently repeating the B1 course as of March 2025. The total previous integration costs, primarily for German language and integration support, amount to CHF 11,590.
