

FEMIA

FEMIA, Bildung und Kultur für Migrantinnen, offers a German Literacy Program at Kalkbreitestrasse 37, 8003 Zurich, specifically tailored for women, adults, individuals unfamiliar with school environments, and those experiencing psychological stress. The program supports participants from the introduction to reading and writing in German up to the automation of these skills, promoting oral communication from GER A1 to A2. It also develops learning techniques, encourages autonomous learning, and integrates social norms and information to help participants navigate daily life. The curriculum includes coaching, as well as foundational training in everyday mathematics and ICT. Childcare is provided during course attendance for children from six months until entry into primary school or kindergarten. The course is delivered in morning and afternoon sessions, with 6.5 lessons per week over 19.5 weeks per semester. The entire program lasts four semesters (39 course weeks per year), and entry is possible at any time when a suitable place is available, with semester starts at the end of February and mid-September. The total cost for literacy or post-literacy training is CHF 2,900 per 19.5-week semester, and childcare costs CHF 1,500 for the same period. This program is IAZH-accredited.
